Dear Rolf:-

I'm enclosing a piece on Toland that I started for "Talking about Color" a while back. It clearly exceeds the space you've allotted to this sort of piece. Maybe it could be titled "Talking about Visual Researcher"!

This got off the ground because I learned shortly after the NAS Toland Awards were instituted that the ~~recipient~~ recipients as a group knew almost nothing about him or his work. I was astounded mainly because I believe Toland ranks absolutely at the top in both his depth and breadth of thinking about visual problems and other sensory and perceptual problems.

Where I've left titles in the text this was deliberate.

There are several page references lacking. They are on the way to me in the mail and I'll send them on to you.

Best from Dolbe,

Sincerely,

Jeo
